

RJG Systematic Molding

Are Your Labor Costs Associated with Quality Control, Out of Control?

Presentation in Chinese

Are you or your management FEELING PRESSURE because:

- You have gone through the TIME CONSUMING AND EXPENSIVE TASK of hand sorting parts for quality or experienced the repercussions of shipping DEFECTIVE PARTS?
- You are concerned with CHASING PROCESSING ISSUES at your plant without knowing why or who authorized it?

Introduction

The RJG Systematic Molding course is 50% classroom and 50% activity based exercises. Each chapter of the course is followed by activity based activities to reinforce what was taught.

Course Detail

Topics of discussion:

- Identify the molding machine, mold, process relationship, capability and success potential.
- Ensure that the material is in the correct condition when it arrives at the molding machine.
- Define the steps required to develop a Scientific Machine Independent Process.
- Shear-rate viscosity study for any mold / material combination
- Trouble-Shoot More Effectively by using a scientific and systematic approach, including the four plastic variables when trouble-shooting;
- The Cause and Effect Relationships between the machine, process, mold, and material;

Identify changes to machines, molds, processes and material handling that will address root causes of problems;

Non-Newtonian behavior of plastic and its impact on the injection molding process and part quality; Polymer behavior can be influenced;

Come up with fewer “band-aid” fixes and more concrete, lasting solutions for trouble shooting
